

ORLANDO JONES HOUSE

The Orlando Jones House is on Duke of Gloucester Street. Jones is less well known than his granddaughter Martha and his father, the first rector of Bruton Parish Church. Martha was the widow Custis, who married a promising young man named George Washington.

The house has four rooms. The first-floor rooms both have queen canopy beds and fireplaces. They have private, full baths in the room. The second-floor rooms both have twin beds. Each private, full bath is located in the upstairs hallway.
